

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

more readily and permanently acquired than under the old method. The publishers deserve the gratitude of the law students of the country for their great advance in the art of publishing legal textbooks. In binding, indexing, quality of paper, and typography, the book is all that could be desired.

The Pacific Reporter. Volume XXXIX. Containing all the Decisions of the Supreme Courts of California, Kansas, Oregon, Colorado, Washington, Montana, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Court of Appeals of Colorado. February 28th,—May 2d, 1895.

This volume, the permanent edition of the Pacific Reports of the National Reporter System, contains all the decisions of the Supreme Courts of the above-mentioned States rendered during the months of March and April, together with a list of the presiding judges of those Courts. The cases are printed in large, clear type on a good quality of paper, and are thoroughly indexed, and the volume itself is substantially bound to withstand the constant use it is destined to receive.